My prayers and thoughts go to you in the challenging time..I have know Kevan since childhood but became close friends during junior high school. We attended Sunday school together. Our class trip to the beach to stay at Larry and Marie McClure's beach home was a bonding experience. We stayed friends through high school and college.We were all so scared when he had a brain tumor, and grateful that he survived. He made a delicious homemade lasagna for several of us, from your great grandmother's cook book. It was written in Italian.The first time I met your mom with Kevan, he was the happiest I had ever seen him. We had dinner at another high school friend's home and played Pictionary. He was so smart and had a unique sense of humor.I will miss your father. Try to dwell on the happy times and remember that he loved you.

I am so sad to hear of Kevan's passing. I first met Kevan when my husband and I attended Evergreen Community Church. Kevan was one of the sweetest people I have ever have ever known. He was hard working, dedicated, loyal and with always willing to help others. He will be greatly missed by so many people. We will see you again, one day, Kevan but until then, we will miss your smile.
