Mark Daidone

JUN 13, 2011

S Mark Daidone, III died Saturday, June 11 at his home in Cornelius in the company of his wife and sons.

Mark was born on May 24, 1957 in Birmingham, AL, was a proud graduate of the University of Alabama, and devoted to Crimson Tide football. At Bama, he was a brother of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity, and his son, John, has proudly followed into the ATO chapter at North Carolina State University. He was a member of Denver Bassmasters. At the recent FLW Southern Open Bass Tournament on Lake Norman, Mark finished 32 as a co-angler, with the most weight caught the second day. Mark was also employed by Airgas where he was project manager.

Mark is survived by his wife of 31 years, Lisa, and his sons, Alex, 23, of Charlotte, and John, 20, of Cornelius.

The family would like to thank the many many people in the medical profession who helped keep Mark well and happy since he was first diagnosed with cancer in 2006. It took a village of the best at what they do...

Jeffrey G. Cardwell, MD who insisted Mark have his gall bladder removed. Thomas B. McElwee, MD who performed the gall bladder surgery and saw Mark's first tumor. Steven A. Limentani, MD, the leader of Mark's team of doctors, for his excellence of care and the confidence he projects. Also, Helen Ferris and everyone at Carolinas Hematology and Oncology. Anthony J. Crimaldi, MD and everyone at CMC Radiation Oncology who not only treated Mark, but treat patients and their family as friends. Eric A. Wang, MD for his skill as a surgeon and as a person. Douglas B. Robinson, MD, PhD for working for years to keep Mark's blood sugar in check and to the nurses who taught the rest of the family to do it. David A. Iannetti, Sr., MD for his skill as a surgeon and for being honest, no matter how bad the news. Larry Kvols, MD and the people at Moffitt Cancer Center. Scott R. Broadwell, MD for treating both Mark's tumors and his family's concerns. Andrew Dries, MD for knowing what was wrong and for making Mark's stomach feel

To Lisa, Alex, and John, My heart goes out to you that Mark has left this Earthly plane. I always enjoyed it when Mark would come with you and the ferrets, to lend a thoughtful ear, a concerned heart, and a comforting soul. Mark was stronger than most people I know, and you Lisa just as strong and determined in so many ways. Determined to be strong for your furry friends and to be a fantastic mother. Lisa, Alex, and John, you are always close in my thoughts and heart.

To the family of Mark Daidone, Please accept my deepest sympathy. I have only known Mark for a short period of time as members of Denver Bassmasters. But you don't have to know someone a long time to know they are good and caring people. It was my honor have known Mark the short period of time that I did and he will be greatly missed. God's timing is only known to Him and eternal life is His gift. The following prayer is one I'm sure Mark prayed: God grant that I may fish until my dying day! And when it comes to my last cast that I humbly pray, when in God's landing net I'm peacefully asleep that in his mercy I be judged good enough to keep!

Mark was my son-in-law, but I considered him my son. He was such a kind, caring man and should have lived longer. He adored his wife, Lisa, and was so proud and loving of his sons, Alex and John.He sure loved fishing and was such a fan of his Crimson Tide. He had such a warm sense of humor and was quick with his smiles.He was the son I never had and I couldn't have been more proud to call him My Son.I love you, Mark, and don't you forget that!!!.....Mom II

Words alone cannot express how sorry we are for Marks crossing over and the loss to your family. Mark was a good and kind soul; he was the compass to keep his family going, to do what was right and good, and a father for his children to look up to as an example of what can be achieved with hard work and patience. His loss to this world and his family, friends and coworkers is unmeasurable and priceless. Our loved ones are only loaned to us by God and now Mark has been called home. For some unknown reason God has a greater need of him somewhere else. It rarely seems fare and is always heart breaking to lose a love one but know in your heart you will meet again and he is always watching over you and his family. He goes to prepare the way for others to follow. Lisa we know he is in good company with other family members that has already crossed over and were waiting on him to guide his way. All our love and best wishes to you and yours. When you are ready and need to talk we will be here for you.
