Helen Stillwell Gant

APR 13, 2017

Helen Stillwell Gant, 90, of Huntersville, passed away peacefully on Wednesday, April 12, 2017.

She was born January 29th, 1927; daughter of Bessie Regans Stillwell and Camie Stanhope Stillwell.

She graduated from Long Creek High School and attended King's College. Early in life, she worked for Lance Inc. as a secretary. She loved playing basketball, both on her high school team, and for the Lance company team.

In her 90 years as a member in the Long Creek community, she was a faithful member of Huntersville First Baptist Church. She served by visiting shut-ins, teaching Sunday School, and working with her WMU circle. Known throughout the community for her "cold oven" pound cakes, she was ever ready to bring a pound cake to an event, a family in need, or a fund raising cause - usually donating 3 or 4 cakes. She loved her church and Sunday School class and spent many happy hours in fellowship with her fellow seniors of the Spurgeon Dorton Class.

Twice retired from Mercy Hospital in Charlotte, NC, "Miss Helen" touched the lives of many with her kindness, patience and ever present smile. Both in Hospital Admissions, and later at the front reception desk, lives were brightened because of her.

Helen loved her home state of North Carolina. She especially enjoyed the beauty of the beach and the Blue Ridge Parkway. Nature and wild animals were dear to her heart and never ceased to bring her joy. Through photography, she shared her joy with others.

She was always willing to sit and visit, take a friend to an appointment, or drive them to enjoy scenery.

I have the pleasure of sending an afternoon with Helen when she was living with Stan and Kathy. We sat and talked about her life and when she worked at the hospital. She loved her boy Stan with her whole heart. We laughed at some of our similar life experiences. She knew both of my parents and told me little stories about life in Long Creek. She was a perfect example of a true Southern Lady. She will be remembered .
