My mind has just been blown and my heart is broken. It is Tuesday morning, May 26 and I was checking my special birthday list on my computer. I wanted to say Happy Birthday and hoping there was some way we could get together. It had been a few years since we had been in contact except through computer Facebook bi rthdays . Von and I were best friends in our teenage years. We walked back and forth the mile to each house after dark never being afraid. I was standing bside her when she and Earl aid their wedding vows. Von, we will see each other in heaven. I love you.
