Coy Randall Gibbs

DEC 9, 1972 - NOV 6, 2022

On Sunday, November 6th, Coy Randall Gibbs died peacefully in his sleep, hours after celebrating the Xfinity Championship won by his oldest son Ty. It was a happy day and Coy's last moments on earth were filled with joy and laughter. Though grief-stricken, the Gibbs family rests in the knowledge that Coy now knows joy that far exceeds any earthly experience.

Coy is survived by his wife of nearly 24 years, Heather, and their four children, Ty (20), Elle (18), Case (16), and Jett (14). He is also survived by parents, Joe and Pat Gibbs along with 9 nieces and nephews. Coy was 49 years old and joins his brother JD in heaven, who preceded him in death in 2019, also at the age of 49.

An accomplished athlete, Coy played 4-years as a starting linebacker at Stanford and competed as a driver in the NASCAR Late-Model, All-Pro, and Truck series, earning Rookie of the Year in All-Pro. His professional life was spent coaching alongside his father in the NFL, founding the JGR Motocross team he ran for over a decade, and serving most recently serving as the Vice Chairman and COO of Joe Gibbs Racing.

Coy would not care to be remembered for any of these accomplishments and made that clear in his remarks in the media center after Saturday's championship win. What mattered most to Coy on Saturday was not his title at JGR but his role as Ty's dad. Similarly, he was an advocate for Elle, encouraging her to pursue college admission at the highest levels and proud of her drive and determination. He coached Case and Jett in numerous sports and enjoyed watching them compete and excel.

Coy was never comfortable in the spotlight and preferred to support those he loved from the background. He was a passionate entrepreneur and loved setting others up for success, whether his own children, his late brother's sons, the JGR family, the ministries of JGR, and the Pop Warner players he coached for 8 seasons. He was fiercely loyal, quietly generous, mercilessly

I cannot imagine the heartache you have endured. And I did not know Coy well. But I did spend about 30 minutes sitting on the back of the hauler at an Arca Race where Ty was racing. It was very obvious that he sure did love his family. I think we must have talked about what everyone of the kids were doing at the time. And how his wife had her hands full with them. It was obvious that she was the light of his life.

The Randall Family sent a virtual gift in honor of Coy.

Our thoughts are with Coy's wife Heather & their 4 incredible children, his parents Coach & Pat who have lost so much in such a short period of time, Coy's sister in-law who with JD set Heather and Coy up on a blind date about 25yrs ago, and the 4 incredible nephews they blessed Coy and Heather with. Thoughts with the JGR Family that have suffered the loss of JD & Coy and now need to help the JGR founder and his family as they begin to take the 1st steps, may you all find peace in knowing that JD and Coy are together again and in time their family will join them in Heaven 1 by 1 in the decades to follow. May you all find strength through your religious beliefs & know that you are all surrounded by loving and caring individuals who are there to listen and lean upon as you each begin a new life with memories to cherish and your faith to help lead you. JD and Coy will continue to watch over their wives, children and parents along with their JGR Family as they have as each of you entered their lives and they entered yours. God Bless You All, The Randall Family, NY Adirondacks

Coy and I first met when we were just out of college, and had birthdays just a few days apart. Fast forward over a quarter of a century later as we are just about to turn 50... it is unthinkable he's gone. Life moves quickly. I always enjoyed seeing Coy through the years at T-Ball and then countless school sporting events. He was always present. In the corner. In black. Sometimes very displeased by the score. Fiercely competitive. Not one to gravitate toward the crowd, Coy's quiet and sometimes gruff persona was just part of his unique charm. I saw Coy as a normal guy who did not want anything to do with the spotlight - and so he went out of his way to hide his sensitive heart and sneaky sharp wit. He was a good guy in black. Coach, Pat, Heather, Ty, Elle, Case and Jet- We are lifting you up in prayer as you move forward. Much love.

My deepest and sincerest sympathies and condolences are with the Gibbs family in their immeasurable loss. Praying the Lord will guide and protect them during this time of deepest grief, and that He will provide them with the comfort that only He can. The Lord has welcomed Coy Home, and now he and JD are together again. I trust that the Gibbs' faith will strengthen them in their hours of deepest need. Of course they would rather have Coy and JD here on earth with them, but trust in God's message that they will be reunited in Heaven, and the boys are celebrating their eternal Home with joy and no suffering. I'm so very sorry.

The pain has to be overwhelming. I pray daily for that entire family and it's employees at JGR. I've prayed with Coach & he didn't treat me like a stranger but instead as his brother in Christ. It is in these times that those who are on the outside, and may only able to love you and your family from a distance, that we so desperately need to know that you are going to be Okay! Thank you Pat for letting is know that even in this moment you are still trusting in the unchanging hand of the Lord and that you Joe and the family know that you all in time will indeed be alright. Praying with you and for you, Darrell and Jewell Green
