Caren Pendleton Silvestri posted:

Had the honor of knowing Pat as a neighbor and the mother of my dear friend, Elaine while growing up in Anaheim, CA. The Fleming family lived just down the street from us in a brand new "Cinderella" home a few miles from Disneyland and 20 minutes down Beach Blvd to the ocean. It was the mid 1950's and felt a bit like we were all living the American dream, California style. We had a tight knit neighborhood. Everyone knew each other and had neighborhood parties, gave a helping hand when needed. Both Pat and my Mom were homemakers as were most moms at the time. I have beautiful memories of Pat and the lovely family she and Wayne created. My deepest sympathies to Elaine, Kent and Craig and to Pat's grandchildren and the entire family. Love and prayers to you all! Celebrating a beautiful life well lived!
