There are no words big enough to hold the love, laughter, and light you brought into my life. You were my partner in crime—whether we were sneaking off for ice cream, staying up too late on our cruise, or taking long drives just to feel the wind and talk about everything and nothing. Frani - You were the kind of friend who made ordinary moments unforgettable. We shared meals, stories, and silence. We welcomed each other into our families and friend groups like we'd always belonged. You made life sweeter, warmer, and more full of joy. Even Oakely knew how special you were. He knew your name, your house, and the joy of sitting on your lap—even though he's 70 pounds and definitely not a lapdog. His tail would wag the moment we turned towards your home. You were his friend too, and he loved you dearly. That kind of love can't be taught—it's just felt. 🍪 I will miss your laugh, your kindness, your spirit. But I will carry you with me in every sunset drive, every shared dessert, every late-night conversation. Thank you for being my person. I love you always. ❤️
